All applicants must meet specific requirements as set forth in the chapter for the program concerned. This regulation is applicable to applicants in the Active Army, the Army National Guard, the US Army Reserve (ready and standby), and to applicants in a civilian status.

1–2. Data required by the Privacy Act of 1974. The numbered forms and other required documentation as listed in the following chapters which collect personal information are affected by the Privacy Act. Prior to submission, applicants must review the applicable Privacy Act Statement. Privacy Act Statements for numbered forms (except DD Form 1584) are either incorporated in the form or published by change to the prescribing directive for the related form, and authorized for local reproduction. Prior to rendering required documentation (other than numbered forms), the applicant must review and sign DA Form 4571–R, Data Required by the Privacy Act of 1974 (Eligibility for AMEDD Officer Procurement Programs—Miscellaneous Documentation), figure 2–4, AR 135–101, and submit with documentation.

CHAPTER 6

APPLICATION PROCEDURES FOR SCHOOL OF MEDICINE, UNIFORMED SERVICES UNIVERSITY OF THE HEALTH SCIENCES

6–1. Purpose. This chapter prescribes policies and procedures for applying for enrollment in the School of Medicine, Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences (USUHS). The USUHS is established under the authority of Public Law 92–426 (10 USC 2112–2117) as an independent agency of the Department of Defense to train physicians for the three military services and the Public Health Service. Applicants will be assigned to a uniformed service as determined by the Secretaries of the Military Departments and the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs).

6–2. Scope. These provisions apply to active duty (AD) Army personnel including ADT personnel on duty for a period of 90 days or more, and the following categories of personnel:

a. ROTC cadets (scholarship);

b. ROTC Advanced Corps cadets (nonscholarship);

c. Eligible USMA cadets and graduates; and

d. Members of the ARNGUS or USAR who are not on active duty.

★6–3. Appointment, active grade, and obligation. a. Students assigned to the Department of the Army for sponsorship will be appointed Reserve commissioned officers and, while enrolled in the University, will serve on active duty in pay grade O–1. An individual, selected for admission to the school, who holds a Regular Army appointment must resign that appointment prior to admission. Reserve officers in the grade above O–1 who are selected for admission must also resign their appointment prior to admission. Reserve officers in pay grade O–1 will be reappointed as Reserve officers of the Army, O–1, if appropriate. Upon satisfactory completion of the medical school program, graduates allocated to the Army will be tendered, if qualified, Regular Army appointments in the Medical Corps. Graduates will incur an AD service obligation of 21 months for each year or portion thereof spent in training, except that in no case will the obligation be less than 27 months. This obligation will be served consecutively with any other active duty obligation, except where otherwise prescribed by law or DOD policy. Periods of time spent in graduate medical education will not count toward satisfying the medical school service obligation.

b. The applicants' preferences are honored to the extent possible in making service assignments. To assure that each entering class is fairly constituted, students will be assigned to the uniformed services according to quotas established for the program.

c. If dropped from the School of Medicine for any reason, the student will be referred to the appropriate military department for disposition. The military department has the authority to:

(1) Require that the service commitment be fulfilled by performing duty determined by the Secretary of the military department concerned. An individual will be required to serve on active duty for a period equal to the period of enrollment in the program. However, in no case will a disenrolled individual be required to serve less than 1 year on active duty.

(2) Waive incurred service commitment, if that action would be in the best interest of that service. (Such relief does not relieve the individual from any other active duty service commitment imposed by law.) If any service commitment is waived, the individual may, at the discretion of the Secretary of the military department concerned, be required to reimburse the Government for all or part of the tuition and other education costs incurred under this program. However, an individual may not be relieved of service commitment solely because he or she is willing and able to pay back the Government for all education costs.

6–4. Eligibility. To be eligible to apply for admission to the USUHS School of Medicine, the applicant must:

a. Be a citizen of the United States.

b. Be at least 18 years of age at the time of matriculation, but not older than 28 as of 30 June in the year of admission. The latter (maximum) age limit may be waived in the best interests of the service, but such exceptions will be rare.

c. Be of good moral character.

d. Meet the standards of medical fitness for commissioning in accordance with chapter 5, AR 40–501, except for vision which will be as prescribed in paragraphs 2–12 and 2–13, chapter 2, AR 40–501. The Department of Defense Medical Examination Review Board (DODMERB) is responsible for determining the medical fitness of each applicant.

(1) Attained a baccalaureate degree from an accredited academic institution in the United States, Canada, or Puerto Rico.

(2) Completed successfully the following academic course work:

h. Not be obligated or committed for service beyond the expected date of admission as a result of current or prior participation in programs of study or training sponsored by the Army with the exceptions of ROTC and the US Military Academy (USMA). ROTC and USMA active duty obligations will be added to the service commitment incurred as a result of participation in the USUHS program (see para 6–3*a*).

★CHAPTER 7
ARMY CLINICAL CLERKSHIP TRAINING PROGRAM

7–1. General. a. This chapter prescribes the Army Medical Department (AMEDD) Clinical Clerkship Training Program (CCTP) whereby certain categories of personnel are afforded an opportunity to observe and participate in AMEDD training programs, without obligation, for periods not to exceed 60 days.

b. The CCTP is designed to stimulate selected medical, osteopathic, and dental students to consider career opportunities available through the AMEDD. The CCTP provides them an opportunity to observe firsthand the personnel, facilities, equipment, and standards of Army medical and dental care. The CCTP is separate and distinct from the affiliation of civilian institutions with Army medical and dental activities and the US Army Health Professions Scholarship Program active duty for training (ADT) program as set forth in AR 351–24 and AR 601–141 respectively.

7–2. Scope. This chapter applies to officers of the Army National Guard and Army Reserve. Personnel included are medical, osteopathic, and dental students in the following status: Early Commissioning Program, ROTC delay, and Army National Guard officers. ARNG and USAR students training in stated disciplines under Reserve Component sponsored programs are excluded from the provisions of this chapter. Performance of their active duty for training at Army medical and dental activities will be arranged by their component. Civilian applicants are not eligible to apply for the CCTP under the provisions of this chapter. However, civilians may participate in this training, with no monetary compensation, under AR 351–24 where affiliation agreements exist.

7–3. Responsibilities. a. The Surgeon General.

(1) Program proponency.

(2) Receipt of applications, selection of participants and site. Notification of all personnel concerned.

(3) Provide Commanding General, US Army Reserve Components Personnel and Administration Center (RCPAC) or Chief, National Guard Bureau with instructions for issuance of necessary orders.

(4) Provide CG, RCPAC with 5-year projection of man-day space requirements on an annual basis.

b. Commanding General, US Army Health Services Command.

(1) Provide training facility support for CCTP operation.

(2) Notify HQDA (SGPE–PD), WASH DC 20324, annually concerning changes in medical and dental facilities conducting CCTP.

c. Chief of Army Reserve. Budget funds for Reserve Personnel Army appropriation in support of this program.

d. Commanding General, RCPAC.

(1) Issue orders for personnel of the USAR to include members of the USAR Control Group (Officer Active Duty Obligor).

(2) Support CCTP through RCPAC training funds.

e. Chief, National Guard Bureau. Provide funding support and issue orders for ARNGUS participants.

7–4. Levels of training. Two levels of training are offered—

a. Clinical Clerkship I (CCTPI). This training allows post-sophomore participants to explore interesting and challenging clinical experiences in AMEDD medical and dental activities in the continental United States and Hawaii. Additional training options are available in research and development, pathology, and preventive medicine.

b. Clinical Clerkship II (CCPTII). This experience acquaints students in their clinical years (late junior and senior) with the practice of military medicine and dentistry at the major Army teaching facilities. It also provides students an opportunity to develop perspectives of graduate medical and dental education as well as aviation medicine.

7–5. Program descriptions. a. Clinical program. Rotations may be tailored to accommodate the participant's training objectives in medicine or dentistry. Professional didactic instruction consists of case presentations of general interest in subjects chosen to fit the available clinical material. Participants must attend the teaching exercises conducted by the facility for residents and interns of the Service concerned. The remainder of the training time is devoted to clinical patient care under staff supervision.

b. Preventive medicine program. The program includes field trips to military industrial plants; visits to Army medical laboratories and other post or station facilities, industrial hygiene activities, and local civilian health departments; and observation of medical research projects.

c. Research program. A limited number of clerkships are offered in medical and surgical physiology, immunology, bacteriologyn viral and rickettsial diseases, and dental research. Students will have an opportunity to work with researchers of national standing on current projects of medical and dental importance.

d. Pathology program. A limited number of clerkships are available in all aspects of laboratory medicine. Included are clinical and anatomical pathology, advanced instrumentation, cytopathology, chromosome studies, oral pathology and blood banking.

e. Aviation medicine. Training is provided in a wide variety of subjects including the aeromedical aspects of internal medicine and cardiology, neurology, ophthalmology, otolaryngology, and psychiatry. In addition, altitude physiology, other physiological stresses of flight, aviation psychology, experimental medicine, toxicology, aviation safety, and a variety of other topics are covered to prepare the flight surgeon for diverse duties.
