(INTENTIONALLY BLANK)

CHAPTER I

GENERAL

1. Purpose

a. This publication sets forth the principles, guidelines, and conceptual framework for initiating, validating, developing, coordinating, evaluating, approving, and maintaining joint doctrine and joint tactics, techniques, and procedures (JTTP) approved by the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, in consultation with the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It provides the framework to allow the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, to discharge his responsibilities for joint doctrine mandated by law and in DOD directives. This publication incorporates previous guidance on joint doctrine and JTTP development and provides for transition of four-Service-approved publications into the Joint Publication System and incorporation of ongoing and new joint doctrine and JTTP projects. This publication also addresses those supplemental administrative publications that are required to allow the joint doctrine system to function. Joint Admin Pub 1, "Joint Administrative Publication System," describes the parallel publication system that exists for joint administrative publications.

b. This publication provides:

(1) Specific guidance on joint doctrine and JTTP development through the following stages:

(a) Project proposal.

(b) Validation of project proposal.

(c) Project scope development.

(d) Project development.

(e) Preliminary approval.

(f) Test publication.

(g) Evaluation.

(h) Final approval.

(i) Maintenance (change, revision, and cancellation) of approved publications.

(2) The staffing and coordination requirements and procedures necessary to administer the joint doctrine and JTTP program.

(3) A listing of all existing joint doctrine, JTTP publications, and new projects and an index of all joint administrative publications.

2. References

a. The Goldwater-Nichols Department of Defense Reorganization Act of 1986 made the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, responsible for "developing doctrine for the joint employment of armed forces."

b. DOD Directive 5100.1 reiterated the responsibility of the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, for joint doctrine and further charged him with promulgating joint publications to provide military guidance for joint activities of the armed forces.

c. Joint Pub 0-2, December 1986, "Unified Action Armed Forces (UNAAF)," tasks the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, with overall responsibility for joint doctrine and JTTP; coordinating joint doctrine with the Services and combatant commands; approving all joint doctrine; and publishing joint doctrine and JTTP as a distinct family of publications separate from administrative publications.

3. Supersession. This publication supersedes JCS Pub 0, 17 February 1986, "Numerical Index"; JCS MOP 190, 6 April 1987, "Joint Doctrine Development Process"; and SM-861-85, 20 December 1985, "Guidance for Coordinating and Approving Joint Tactics, Techniques, and Procedures Projects."

4. Terminology. Terms and definitions used in the development of joint doctrine and JTTP shall be in accordance with Joint Pub 1-02 (formerly JCS Pub 1), "Department of Defense Dictionary of Military and Associated Terms." When conditions dictate using terms and definitions that are not included in, or depart from, Joint Pub 1-02, such terms will be included in the publication's glossary. New or modified definitions having general military or associated significance that are proposed for inclusion in Joint Pub 1-02 will be clearly identified as such in the glossary with the following note: "Upon final approval of this publication, this term will be included in Joint Pub 1-02." Upon approval of a draft publication as a test publication, a list of all such terms will be provided by the Joint Doctrine Branch, J-7, to the Joint Staff Terminology office as an advance notification. Upon final approval of the publication, these new terms will also be approved and included in the next edition of Joint Pub 1-02. All other terms used in a publication will apply only in the context of that publication. (There are also procedures for proposing new terminology for direct insertion in Joint Pub 1-02. Such new terms may be forwarded through the chain of command to Service or Joint Staff terminology offices for processing in accordance with JCS MOP 109.)

5. Application

a. Joint doctrine and JTTP are authoritative but not directive. Commanders shall exercise their best judgment in applying joint doctrine to accomplish their missions in the most effective manner. Published joint doctrine and JTTP shall be followed, except when, in the judgment of the commander, exceptional circumstances dictate otherwise. If conflicts arise between the procedures found in joint publications and those found in other US publications, joint publications will govern the operations of joint US forces, unless specific and more current CJCS guidance applies. If a commander determines that a joint doctrine and JTTP deficiency or inconsistency exists, the commander shall advise the appropriate authorities of the deficiency or inconsistency.

b. Only publications approved by the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, will be referred to as "joint publications." Publications involving two or more Services that have not been reviewed and approved by the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, shall be referred to as "multi-Service" and shall identify the participating Services (e.g., Army and Air Force doctrine or Army, Navy, and Air Force procedures).

6. Scope

a. The purpose of joint doctrine and JTTP is to enhance the combat effectiveness of US forces.

b. Joint doctrine is used to:

(1) Guide the joint employment of forces.

(2) Provide the national position for combined doctrine consistent with existing security procedures.

(3) Provide a basis for joint training.

(4) Provide instructional material for the military education system.

(5) Inform US Government agencies concerning the employment of US joint forces.

c. Joint doctrine is written for those who:

(1) Provide strategic direction to joint forces (Secretary of Defense; Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff).

(2) Employ joint forces (commanders of unified commands, subunified commands, or joint task forces (JTF)).

(3) Support or are supported by joint forces (JTF, specified commands, component commands, and Services).

d. Joint doctrine can be developed by the:

(1) Chiefs of the Services.

(2) Combatant commanders.

(3) Directors, Joint Staff directorates.

e. Joint doctrine shall be written to reflect extant capabilities but may influence acquisition and joint force organization.

f. Joint tactics, techniques, and procedures are written for those who implement joint doctrine such as:

(1) Commanders of joint forces.

(2) Commanders of subordinate commands.

(3) Commanders at echelons where joint forces interact.

g. In developing joint doctrine and JTTP, extant Service and combined doctrine and tactics, techniques, and procedures shall be considered. Once approved, joint doctrine provides the national position for combined doctrine development consistent with existing security procedures. Service doctrine must be consistent with approved joint doctrine.

7. Publication Change Milestones. The changes to the Joint Publication System will be implemented in the following manner:

a. Existing Joint Publications. Existing joint publications were assigned new publication numbers on 1 May 1988. Initially, a new cover page was published for each joint publication indicating its new number. The Director, J-7, establishes a review cycle for each joint publication, except configuration-managed and/or technical publications. During the first review following the publication of this manual, a validation of the scope of the publication will be accomplished and a program directive for the review developed by the Director, J-7. The program directive may reassign lead agent or doctrine sponsor for a publication if it is deemed appropriate. Approval for the program directive will be accomplished by CJCS MOP 9. At this time, existing publications must be revised in the standard format outlined in Appendix F. (This does not apply to configuration-managed or technical publications.) In addition, the Director, J-7, will coordinate with appropriate lead agents and doctrine sponsors with regard to consolidating existing publications that address similar areas.

b. Four-Service Publications. Approved four-Service publications identified for induction into the Joint Publication System were renumbered on 1 May 1988. Initially, a new cover page was published indicating the publication's new number with no change in content. Three years after the induction of these publications into the joint system or at the next scheduled review, whichever is earlier, these publications shall be revised to conform to the standard format outlined in Appendix F.

c. Ongoing Joint Doctrine and JTTP Projects. The format and joint publication number assignment of those approved joint doctrine and JTTP projects that are ongoing at the effective date of this publication will be addressed on a case-by-case basis. Every effort will be made to bring them into compliance with the guidance contained herein.

d. New Joint Doctrine and JTTP Projects. All new joint doctrine and JTTP projects must comply with all provisions of the joint doctrine and JTTP development process outlined herein.

(INTENTIONALLY BLANK)

CHAPTER II

RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, has overall responsibility for developing joint doctrine and JTTP for the joint employment of the armed forces and in consultation with the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will approve all joint doctrine and JTTP publications and any modifications to joint doctrine and JTTP development procedures.

2. Services, Combatant Commands, and Joint Staff Directorates. The Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff directorates will develop specific joint doctrine and JTTP projects as assigned by the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff; assist other organizations in developing joint doctrine and JTTP projects; participate in conferences called to address joint doctrine and JTTP issues; and coordinate with each other on the development and maintenance of all joint doctrine and JTTP. The Services and combatant commands will support the evaluation of joint doctrine and JTTP projects in joint exercises. Additionally, the Services, combatant commands, and the Joint Staff directorates may propose doctrinal projects to be considered for development in accordance with this publication. Proposals should be submitted to the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, (Attn: Director, Operational Plans and Interoperability (J-7)). Each Service and combatant command will appoint a single point of contact for all joint doctrine matters.

3. Director for Operational Plans and Interoperability. The Director, J-7, is responsible to the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, for managing the joint doctrine and JTTP program. The Director, J-7, shall:

a. Establish a system for orderly processing of joint doctrine and JTTP project proposals.

b. Ensure the validation of each project proposal in accordance with the procedures outlined herein.

c. Recommend to the Director, Joint Staff, a primary Joint Staff directorate (based upon subject matter and available expertise) to serve as Joint Staff doctrine sponsor (DS) (see paragraph 8 below).

d. Recommend, in accordance with procedures contained herein, to the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, the initiation of projects including the designation of a lead agent (LA) (see paragraph 4 below).

e. Develop and coordinate approval of program development directives for each new joint doctrine and JTTP project in accordance with the guidance herein.

f. Monitor the progress of each joint doctrine and JTTP project and provide assistance to the LA and DS as required to ensure complete coordination.

g. Ensure the orderly processing and complete coordination of all joint doctrine and JTTP projects, to include adjustment of project milestones for new projects and establishment and adjustment of milestones for publication revisions.

h. As part of the development and staffing efforts and in accordance with procedures outlined herein, receive the revised final draft from the LA and approve the draft as a test publication for evaluation.

i. Coordinate evaluation tasking of the test publication in accordance with procedures contained herein.

j. If assigned as the Joint Staff DS for a project, after the evaluation is complete, process the publication for final approval, resolving any outstanding issues.

k. Sponsor a Joint Doctrine Working Party to periodically bring together representatives from the Services and combatant commands to address joint doctrine proposals and issues.

4. Lead Agents. Individual Services, combatant commands, or Joint Staff directorates may be assigned as LAs for developing and maintaining joint doctrine or JTTP publications. Specific procedures for developing and maintaining publications are contained herein. In general, the LA is responsible for developing, coordinating, reviewing, and maintaining an assigned doctrine or JTTP publication.

5. Primary Review Authority. Upon assuming responsibility for developing a doctrine or JTTP, the LA will assign a primary review authority (PRA). The PRA and the LA may, in some cases, be one and the same. The PRA performs the actions and coordination necessary to develop and maintain the assigned publication under cognizance of the LA in accordance with this document.

6. Coordinating Review Authority. For each publication, each Service and combatant command will assign a coordinating review authority (CRA) who will coordinate with and assist the PRA in development, evaluation, and maintenance. To ensure consistency, the CRA should be the Service or combatant command single point of contact for joint matters. CRA comments provided to designated PRAs shall be coordinated with and represent the position of the appointing Service or combatant command. Service CRAs are also responsible for determining the Service publication distribution requirements. Combatant command CRAs develop distribution requirements for their respective headquarters.

7. Technical Review Authority. A technical review authority (TRA) is an organization tasked to provide specialized technical or administrative expertise to the PRA or CRA. TRAs will be tasked through the chain of command. TRA support from outside the LA chain of command will be coordinated with the Joint Staff DS and monitored by the Director, J-7. More than one TRA may be assigned as appropriate. TRA support from outside the LA chain of command should be requested from the CRA of the Service or combatant command or Joint Staff doctrine sponsor, as appropriate. Organizations or agencies that are part of the normal staffing process should not be designated TRAs unless they are formally tasked to provide specialized technical or administrative expertise.

8. Joint Staff Doctrine Sponsor. Each joint doctrine or JTTP project shall be assigned a Joint Staff DS. The Director, J-7, will provide guidelines for executing Joint Staff DS responsibilities. The DS will assist the LA or PRA as requested and perform CRA functions for the Joint Staff, coordinate the draft document within the Joint Staff in accordance with current Joint Staff administrative procedures, and provide Joint Staff comments and recommendations to the PRA. The DS coordinates all Joint Staff actions necessary to complete and maintain assigned joint doctrine or JTTP. The DS is responsible for determining Joint Staff distribution requirements for assigned publications. The DS will make all administrative preparations for the publication of test publications and final publications in coordination with the Director, J-7.

APPENDIX F

JOINT PUBLICATION ORGANIZATION AND FORMAT

1. Organization. The final joint publication (JP) will have several main parts and should be organized as follows:

a. Front and back covers.

b. Transmittal memorandum with distribution list.

c. Security instructions (if JP is classified).

d. Record of changes.

e. Preface (if needed).

f. Table of contents.

g. Body of publication.

h. Appendixes and annexes (if needed).

i. Glossary (if needed, the glossary is normally placed in the back of the publication).

j. Index (if needed).

2. Format

a. Cover. The JP title, number, date, and JCS and Service logos will be printed on the front cover (model, page F-4). The overall classification of the publication will be printed at the top and bottom centers of the front and back covers. The publication covers will be color-coded as follows:

(1) UNCLASSIFIED and FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY--white.

(2) CONFIDENTIAL--blue.

(3) SECRET--red.

(4) TOP SECRET--orange.

No marking is required on the inside of the front or back cover.

b. Transmittal Memorandum. See model, page F-6.

c. Security Instructions. Security instructions are required for all classified JPs (model, page F-9) and will include:

(1) The long and short titles of the JP. The short title will be UNCLASSIFIED and should be used when referring to the JP in all forms of communications.

(2) The reason for the classification and any reproduction or distribution restrictions or instructions.

d. Record of Changes. A record of changes page is required for all JPs (model, page F-10).

e. Preface. A preface (model, page F-11) may be included to describe the purpose, scope, and other appropriate information. If a preface is not included, the purpose and scope will be stated in the text.

f. Table of Contents. A table of contents (model, page F-12) will be included.

g. Body of Publication. The body of the publication (model, page F-13) will be divided into chapters. The chapters may be divided into sections and subsections.

h. Appendixes and Annexes. Appendixes are placed at the end of the JP. Annexes to appendixes, if required, follow the appendix to which they apply.

i. Glossary. Abbreviations and acronyms need not be established in the text if the publication has a glossary (model, page F-15). Normally, the glossary should include only those terms and definitions in the JP that are not included in Joint Pub 1-02, "Department of Defense Dictionary of Military and Associated Terms." However, if definitions from Joint Pub 1-02 are included to assist the reader, they must be listed in the glossary exactly as written in Joint Pub 1-02. The glossary is normally placed in the back of the publication.

j. Index. An alphabetical index (model, page F-16) should be included unless the author believes it would not be helpful to the reader.

3. General Guidance

a. Printed Pages. The abbreviated designation of the joint publication (Joint Pub X-X) and date are shown in the upper right corner of only odd-numbered pages and the classification at the top and bottom centers of each page. Paragraph classification markings will be in accordance with DOD 5200.1.R, "Information Security Programs." When a change is issued, "CHANGE" followed by the appropriate number (e.g., CHANGE 1) will be indicated directly below the publication number. The date of the change will be placed directly below the change line.

b. Blank pages. Blank pages are numbered in sequence and annotated in the center with the phrase "(INTENTIONALLY BLANK)."

c. Figures or Tables. Figures or tables should be placed as close as possible to the text they support. If required, they may be incorporated in a chapter or grouped after chapters and appendixes.

d. Reference to Joint Publications. Other JPs and JP chapters and paragraphs will be referred to by using:

(1) Abbreviated designations for JPs (e.g., Joint Pub 2-01).

(2) Chapter numbers for chapters within the JP.

(3) Paragraph numbers.

e. Classification. It is desirable that joint publications be unclassified for ease of dissemination. However, information must always be given the appropriate level of protection. One technique for segregating classified information is to use classified appendixes. A classified appendix is listed in the table of contents with the term "published separately" instead of a page number. In addition, a reference to a classified appendix will be made in the text of the publication.

4. Distribution. Chapter III includes detailed guidance on JP distribution. The following Military Service publication centers are responsible for distributing JPs to Service elements and combatant command headquarters:

a. US Army AG Publication Center, 2800 Eastern Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21220.

b. Naval Publications and Forms Center, 5801 Tabor Avenue, Philadelphia, PA 19120.

c. Air Force Publications Distribution Center, 2800 Eastern Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21220.

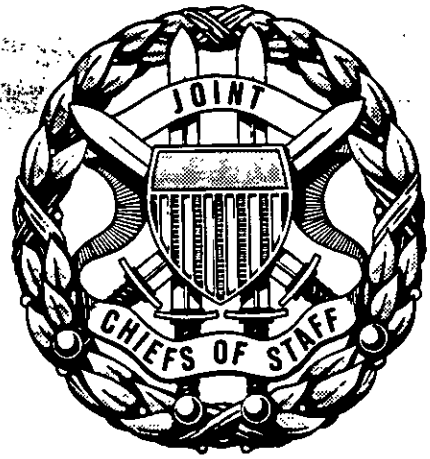

d. Marine Corps Logistics Base, Albany, GA 31704.

Service distribution centers are responsible for identifying and informing Coordinating Review Authorities of changes to distribution requirements and obtaining additional stockage.

PREFACE FOR A JOINT PUBLICATION

Joint Pub X-X

(JOINT PUBLICATION TITLE)
PREFACE

1. Purpose. This publication sets forth principles and doctrine to govern the joint activities and performance of the armed forces of the United States. It provides military guidance for the exercise of authority by commanders of combatant commands and other joint force commanders and prescribes doctrine for joint operations and training. It provides military guidance for use by armed forces in preparing their respective detailed plans.

2. Application

a. Doctrine, principles, and guidance established in this publication apply to the commanders of combatant commands, joint task forces, and the subordinate components of these commands. These doctrine, principles, and guidance also may apply when significant forces of one Service are attached to forces of another Service, or when significant forces of one Service support forces of another Service, under criteria set forth in this publication.

b. In applying the principles and doctrine set forth in this publication, care must be taken to distinguish between distinct but related responsibilities in the two channels of authority to forces assigned to combatant commands. The Military Departments and Services recruit, organize, train, equip, and provide forces for assignment to combatant commands and administer and support these forces. Commanders of the unified and specified commands exercise combatant command (command authority) over these assigned forces. Service component commanders are responsible both to joint force commanders in the operational chain of command and to the Military Departments and Services in the chain of command for matters that the joint force commander has not been assigned authority.

3. Scope. Describe limitations of the joint publication (e.g., "This manual describes targeting processes and coordination requirements for fire support in joint operations.").

4. Basis. List the laws, directives, policies, and procedures that provide the basis for developing this publication.

CHAPTER III

PROCEDURES

1. Project Proposal and Validation

a. By Message

(1) Proposal. The Services, combatant commanders, and Directors, Joint Staff directorates, may propose joint doctrine and JTTP projects to be considered for development. Commands subordinate to the above may submit joint doctrine or JTTP proposals through their chains of command. Recommended projects will be submitted to the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, by message using the format and list of addressees for action copies shown in Appendix A. Information addressees may be added at the discretion of the originator.

(2) Validation. The Director, J-7, shall solicit comments on the proposal from the Services and combatant commands; however, all addressees will be invited to comment. Comments will be provided to the Director, J-7, in the format shown in Appendix B. The Director, J-7, is responsible for completing the validation by ensuring that all relevant sources have been explored, including international agreements; lessons learned files; extant and emerging joint, combined, and Service doctrine and procedures; and other sources as appropriate. The Director, J-7, will notify the submitting commander of the disposition of all project proposals.

b. By Joint Doctrine Working Party Proposal and Validation. The Joint Doctrine Working Party (JDWP), which meets semiannually, provides an efficient alternative for introducing proposals. A project proposal submitted to the JDWP follows the format in Appendix A, but is submitted only to the Director, J-7, to be included in the JDWP read-ahead package. The read-ahead package is normally issued to all participants 2 months before the working party meets. Validation takes place through the JDWP process eliminating the need to comment by message. All project proposals, whether they are issued by message or through the JDWP read-ahead package, are discussed at the working party meeting. The JDWP makes a final recommendation to the Director, J-7, for project initiations. Again, the Director, J-7, will notify the submitting commander of the disposition of all project proposals.

2. Scope Development. After the proposal is validated, the project scope will be refined, approved, and issued in the form of a program directive (see sample in Appendix C). The program directive is a coordinated effort by the Director, J-7, the proposed LA, and the Joint Staff DS (if required). Project scope refinement involves extensive informal coordination among the Services, combatant commands, and Director, J-7, on each project's nomination, program directive development, and priority of development.

3. Project Development. After a proposal has been validated and the refined project scope developed, the Director, J-7, will process the program directive in accordance with CJCS MOP 9 for formal CJCS approval. Project development commences when authorized by the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff. The program directive may authorize development to begin immediately, or actual project initiation may be delayed to allow for orderly processing of projects. The LA established in the program directive will assign a PRA to actually develop the project and request that each Service and combatant command assign a CRA for the project. Under the cognizance of the LA, the PRA will develop an initial draft based upon guidance provided in the program directive.

a. The following responsibilities are assigned in developing the initial draft:

(1) The PRA will consider existing joint, combined, and Service doctrine and ensure that the draft reflects Service and combatant command perspectives. The PRA will establish early dialogue with combatant command and Service CRAs to highlight perspectives and/or doctrinal differences that should be considered in the development of the initial draft.

(2) The PRA will ensure that sentences, paragraphs, and passages lifted from previously approved publications are quoted verbatim. Necessary changes to previously approved language resulting from the development of new joint doctrine will be highlighted for addressal in the staffing process.

(3) The PRA will employ, to the greatest extent possible, the previously approved terminology contained in Joint Pub 1-02. Terms and definitions that are not included in, or depart from, Joint Pub 1-02 will be included in the initial draft glossary. New or modified definitions in the initial draft having general military or associated significance will be clearly identified in the glossary (see page I-2, paragraph 4.)

(4) The PRA will submit the initial draft to the CRAs for comment and to the joint doctrine single points of contact (if different from the CRAs) for information. CRA and Joint Staff DS comments provided will be separated into the following categories:

(a) Critical Comments. Critical comments will cause nonconcurrence in the draft if the concern is not satisfactorily resolved.

(b) Major Comments. Major comments are significant concerns that may result in nonconcurrence in the entire document. This category may be used with a general statement of concern with a subject area, thrust of the document, etc., followed by detailed comments on specific entries in documents that, taken together, constitute the concern.

(c) Substantive Comments. Substantive comments are provided because sections in the document appear to be or are potentially incorrect, incomplete, misleading, or confusing.

(d) Administrative Comments. Administrative comments correct inconsistencies between different sections, typographical errors, or grammatical errors.

(5) The PRA will incorporate changes into the draft and circulate a final draft to the Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff DS for comment.

(6) The PRA will request, if required, evaluations to supplement the development process through the LA. If the evaluation requirements cannot be accomplished by the assigned LA during the development process, the LA must identify the requirement for additional evaluation to the Director, J-7, for follow-on tasking. Requests for supplementary developmental evaluations shall be submitted in the format contained in Appendix E.

(7) The PRA will incorporate appropriate comments into the final draft, identify unresolved issues, and submit the final draft to the LA for consideration.

b. The LA will:

(1) Make every attempt to resolve any remaining outstanding issues.

(2) Develop recommended evaluation objectives.

c. Following LA review, the revised final draft, together with recommended evaluation objectives, will be forwarded to the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff (Attn: Director, J-7). When forwarding the revised final draft to the Director, J-7, the LA will:

(1) Identify unresolved issues.

(2) Identify and justify the differences between the draft publication and existing joint, Service, and combined doctrine.

(3) Provide copies to the Services and combatant commands.

(4) Identify any terminology not previously approved by the US Joint Military Terminology Group, J-7, Joint Staff, and justify the requirement for these terms.

(5) Make recommendations concerning the consolidation or cancellation of existing joint doctrine. As a result of this consolidation, the LA will also recommend what redundant information in other joint publications should be deleted in their next revision. The J-7 will communicate these recommendations to the concerned LAs and Joint Staff doctrine sponsors for appropriate action.

4. Test Publications. Following coordination with the Services and Joint Staff and after approval by the Director, J-7, draft joint doctrine or JTTP will be published as test publications for evaluation. (Coordination is defined in the current edition of CJCS MOP 9 and Joint Administrative Instruction 5711.6.) Differences of opinion, if any, will be included as an appendix to the test publication. Test publication distribution will be determined by the Director, J-7. Normally, 10 copies will be sent to each combatant command and Service and 15 copies to the evaluation agency. If additional copies are required, they should be requested through the Joint Staff DS, preferably with notification to J-7 prior to initial printing. Use of test publications in the field will be at the discretion of the combatant commanders. Test publications will be distinctly marked to ensure that users are aware of the provisional nature of the publication. New or modified terminology that will be approved for inclusion in Joint Pub 1-02 upon final approval of the test publication as a joint publication will be clearly annotated as such in the glossary.

5. Evaluation

a. The program directive issued by the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, will address potential evaluation requirements. The Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, through the Director, J-7, will issue an evaluation directive (see Appendix D) to task test publication evaluation. Evaluation directives will be developed and staffed with the Services, combatant commands, and the Joint Staff. The staffing process is as outlined below:

(1) The evaluation agent, normally the Joint Doctrine Center, J-7, develops and forwards an initial draft evaluation directive message to the Director, J-7. The message format is in accordance with Appendix D.

(2) The Director, J-7, provides a copy of the initial draft evaluation directive to the Services and Joint Staff and invites comments and recommendations to be provided directly to the evaluation agent for consideration in the development of the final draft of the evaluation directive. All comments, including "concurrence," should be submitted in writing.

(3) The evaluation agent develops and transmits a message forwarding the final draft of the evaluation directive for comment to the combatant commands identified as sponsoring commands for the doctrine evaluation. The Services and nonparticipating combatant commands will be information addressees but may comment on the proposed evaluation directive as desired.

(4) Comment categories (critical, major, substantive, and administrative) used for comments on draft publications should also be used in addressing initial and final draft evaluation directive concerns. A "critical category" comment will require resolution by the evaluation agent. If the concern cannot be resolved by the evaluation agent, the action will be passed to the Director, J-7, for addressal in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

(5) The final evaluation directive message will be forwarded to the Director, J-7, for release. This message will formally notify appropriate combatant commands of the evaluation agent's intent to use an exercise in their theater to evaluate the specified joint test publication. All Services and combatant commands will be addressees on this message and on all further updates concerning this evaluation.

b. Evaluation objectives will include any differences of opinion identified in the test publication.

c. Interim evaluation results (i.e., results of evaluations conducted during specific exercises) will be forwarded by the Director, J-7, to the command hosting the exercise and the Joint Staff doctrine sponsor for concurrence and comments. The final evaluation report will include recommended refinements to the publication.

d. After staffing, the Director, J-7, will send the final evaluation results to the LA with information copies to the Services and combatant commands.

e. If evaluation results indicate a requirement for changes to the publication, the LA will rewrite the publication as required and return the modified publication to J-7. J-7 will send copies to the Services and combatant commands for comment.

f. The Director, J-7, will oversee joint doctrine and JTTP evaluations to ensure the adequacy, completeness, and consistency of evaluations.

7. Final Approval. Final approval of joint doctrine and JTTP projects will be accomplished under the provisions of CJCS MOP 9. New or modified terms selected for inclusion in Joint Pub 1-02 will be approved as part of the same action.

8. Publication Maintenance System

a. Recommended Changes. Recommended changes to either test publications or final publications may be submitted to the LA by the Services, combatant commands, or the Joint Staff. Information copies of recommended changes will be provided to the Services and combatant commands. Two categories of changes are:

(1) Urgent Changes. Urgent change recommendations will be forwarded by priority message to the Joint Staff (Attn: Director, J-7) and the appropriate LA (see Appendix G). Urgent changes are those that require immediate promulgation to prevent personnel hazard or damage to equipment, correct an operating technique, or emphasize a limitation that adversely affects combat effectiveness. The LA will advise the Director, J-7, if the recommended change needs to be issued as an urgent change. The Director, J-7, will, if in agreement, approve the urgent change for the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff.

(2) Routine Changes. Routine change recommendations will be forwarded to the LA with information copies to all CRAs for consideration during normal review cycles.

b. Review

(1) Interval. Reviews will be completed on a 5-year cycle beginning with the effective date of publication and recurring every 5 years upon completion of the most recent review. (As an exception, capstone and keystone joint doctrinal publications, Joint Pubs 0-1, 2-0, 3-0, 4-0, 5-0, and 6-0, will be initially reviewed 3 years after the effective date of publication; thereafter, these publications will be reviewed on the same 5-year recurring cycle as all other joint publications.) Milestones for revision will be coordinated by the Director, J-7. If more frequent reviews are deemed necessary by the LA, LAs and/or PRAs will ensure that the review cycle is set forth in the affected publication and coordinated with the Director, J-7. If sufficient justification for a full review does not exist, the review or update requirement will be coordinated by the LA through the DS and Director, J-7.

(2) Staffing Requirements. Revisions of joint publications will be staffed with the Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff. The staffing process is as follows:

(a) Ninety days before initiation of the publication program directive, the LA, in coordination with the Director, J-7, and the DS, will request Services and combatant commands to identify CRAs and comment on the existing publication.

(b) If comments on the existing publication indicate extensive revision is necessary, a program directive governing the revision effort will be created and staffed in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

(c) The LA will designate a PRA to actually revise the publication.

(d) Under the cognizance of the LA, the PRA will develop an initial draft and final draft of the revision in accordance with the guidance for project development in paragraph 4 above. If the scope of the existing publication falls within the scope established by the program directive, the existing publication may suffice as the initial draft.

(e) The LA will make every attempt to resolve any outstanding issues and forward the final draft of the revision to the Joint Staff DS to be processed for final approval.

(f) The Joint Staff DS will process the revision for approval in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

c. Changes

(1) Administrative Changes. Administrative changes to joint publications will be processed with the Services and Joint Staff in accordance with CJCS MOP 9 and with the combatant commands by means of a memorandum. Approval will be at the lowest appropriate level. If, during processing, the change is deemed to be substantive rather than administrative, the change will either be held for inclusion in the next revision of the publication or be processed for formal approval.

(2) Substantive Changes. Substantive changes to joint publications that are not so extensive as to require a complete revision will be circulated to the combatant commands for comment and processed for approval in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

d. Configuration Management and Technical Publications

(1) There are, within the Joint Publication System, publications highly technical in nature that require frequent review and update. These publications are maintained either by using a configuration management system, as in MJCS 99-85, "Interface Standards Configuration Management Guidance," or through change procedures outlined within the lead publication of a series, as in Joint Pub 1-03, "Joint Reporting Structure." These maintenance procedures will be used in lieu of procedures outlined in subparagraphs 8a, b, and c, except as noted below. Configuration management provides technical and administrative support for the maintenance of interoperability standards and procedures in appropriate joint publications. Any doctrinal issues that arise will receive conscious addressal through full staffing in accordance with subparagraph 8b(2) above.

(2) Technical publications are those joint publications that support doctrine and JTTP. They are included in the numerical index of joint publications for reference purposes and are managed by their Joint Staff DS or LA. Review cycles for technical publications will not exceed 5 years. Technical publications and those publications under configuration management are annotated as such in Chapter VI. Specific information on the type of configuration management in use on a publication series may be obtained from the Joint Staff DS.

e. Cancellation or Supersession of Publications. Cancellation or supersession of joint publications will be accomplished through formal action in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

9. Joint Publication Printing and Distribution

a. Printing. The Director for Information and Resource Management (DIRM), Joint Staff, in coordination with the Director, J-7, has responsibility for printing all joint publications for the Joint Staff, joint agencies, and DOD agencies (with the exception of configuration-managed (CM) publications as discussed in subparagraph 8d above.) The Services will fund for the printing of all JPs they require for internal distribution as well as JPs required by combatant command headquarters (see subparagraph 9b(3) below).

b. Distribution. The Director, J-7, has overall responsibility for distributing approved joint publications.

(1) The Joint Staff (DIRM) is responsible for distributing (both initial and subsequent) JPs to the Joint Staff, OSD, FEMA, DNA, NSA, JSTPS, CIA, DCA, DIA, and the US Coast Guard, and any other joint or DOD agencies approved by the Director, J-7.

(2) The Joint Staff distributes 5 copies of each new or revised JP to each of the Services and 25 copies to each of the combatant commands. Distribution of CM publications to combatant commands is based upon a requested number and may be less than 25 copies. (DSs will contact each combatant command prior to distribution of CM publications.)

(3) The combatant commands may obtain additional copies from the Military Service assigned administrative support responsibility by the current version of DOD Directive 5100.3, "Support of Headquarters of Unified, Specified, and Subordinate Joint Commands."

(4) The Military Service publication centers responsible for distributing JPs to Service elements and combatant commands are listed in Appendix F.

(5) During JP development or revision, the Service CRAs for each JP are responsible for determining basic Service distribution requirements. Combatant command CRAs develop distribution requirements for their respective headquarters. These data should be developed during the staffing of the final draft. The combatant command distribution requirements will be provided to the Director, J-7, by the joint doctrine single point of contact within each command. The Joint Staff DS will ensure that Service CRAs provide Service distribution for the publication under development.

CHAPTER IV

PUBLICATION ORGANIZATIONAL FRAMEWORK

1. Joint Publication Hierarchy. The joint publication hierarchy provides a framework for the serial structure for joint doctrine and JTTP publications. The organizational structure follows traditional joint staff lines of responsibility to the maximum degree possible. Each series, except the 0 and 1 series, provides for a keystone manual as the first publication in the series. The keystone manuals constitute the doctrinal foundation of the series.

2. Joint Publication Identification

a. The first numerical group identifies the functional field as follows:

(1) 0 Series: Capstone Joint Warfare Doctrine.

(2) 1 Series: Joint Reference Publications.

(3) 2 Series: Intelligence Support of Joint Operations.

(4) 3 Series: Joint Operations.

(5) 4 Series: Logistics Support of Joint Operations.

(6) 5 Series: Planning of Joint Operations.

(7) 6 Series: Command, Control, and Communications Systems Support of Joint Operations.

b. The second numerical group, preceded by a hyphen, places the publication within a functional field. A zero-digit designator is used to indicate the keystone manual for the series of a functional field. (For example, Joint Pub 6-0 would be the number for the keystone manual in the C3 Systems series.)

c. The third numerical group, preceded by a period, designates those publications that provide supporting or expanded doctrine or JTTP for sequenced manuals within a functional field. (For example, Joint Pub 3-09.1 would be the number of the publication on "Joint Tactics, Techniques and Procedures for Lasers," which supports Joint Pub 3-09, "Doctrine for Joint Fire Support," which falls under the Joint Pub 3-0 Series (Joint Operations) of publications.)

3. Publication Number Assignment. The Director, J-7, assigns the publication number to ensure subject matter continuity. This includes publication numbers for configuration managed and technical publications.

CHAPTER V

PUBLICATION SERIES DESCRIPTION

1. Joint Pub 0 Series, Capstone Joint Warfare Doctrine. Publications in the Joint Pub 0 Series link joint doctrine to national strategy and the contributions of other government agencies and alliances. The UNAAF, Joint Pub 0-2, continues to provide the basic organization and command and control relationships required for effective joint operations of the forces of two or more Services.

2. Joint Pub 1 Series, Joint Reference Publications. The Joint Pub 1 Series includes a joint publication guide and index and general reference publications (e.g., DOD Dictionary of Military and Associated Terms).

3. Joint Pub 2 Series, Doctrine for Intelligence Support of Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 2 Series establish joint doctrine, tactics, techniques, and procedures for intelligence support of joint operations including direction, planning, collection, processing, production, and dissemination.

4. Joint Pub 3 Series, Doctrine for Unified and Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 3 Series establish joint doctrine, tactics, techniques, and procedures for directing, planning, and executing joint military operations.

5. Joint Pub 4 Series, Doctrine for Logistics Support of Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 4 Series establish joint doctrine, techniques, and procedures for directing, planning, and carrying out logistics support of joint operations.

6. Joint Pub 5 Series, Doctrine for Planning of Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 5 Series establish the joint planning processes relating to the conduct of joint military operations (e.g., deliberate and mobilization planning).

7. Joint Pub 6 Series, Doctrine for C3 Systems Support of Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 6 Series establish joint doctrine, tactics, techniques, and procedures for C3 systems support to joint operations.

8. New Joint Publication System. Figure V-1 illustrates the relationship within each publication series among existing joint publications, four-Service publications, ongoing projects, and new projects approved for development under the Joint Doctrine Master Plan. A legend is provided to help differentiate between the various categories.

CHAPTER I

GENERAL

1. Purpose

a. This publication sets forth the principles, guidelines, and conceptual framework for initiating, validating, developing, coordinating, evaluating, approving, and maintaining joint doctrine, joint tactics, techniques, and procedures (JTTP), and joint technical publications. These publications are approved by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in consultation with the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. This publication provides the framework to allow the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to discharge his responsibilities for joint doctrine mandated by law and in DOD directives. It incorporates previous guidance on joint doctrine, JTTP, and joint technical pub development. This publication also addresses those supplemental administrative publications that are required to allow the joint doctrine system to function. Joint Admin Pub 1, "Joint Administrative Publication System," describes the parallel publication system that exists for joint administrative publications.

b. This publication provides:

(1) Specific guidance on joint doctrine and JTTP development through the following stages:

(a) Project proposal.

(b) Validation of project proposal.

(c) Project development.

(d) Initial and final drafts.

(e) Test publication and evaluation (optional stage).

(f) Final approval.

(g) Maintenance (post-publication assessment, change, revision, and cancellation) of approved publications.

(2) The staffing and coordination requirements and procedures necessary to administer the joint doctrine and JTTP program.

(3) A listing of all existing joint doctrine, JTTP publications, and new projects and an index of all joint administrative publications.

2. References

a. Title 10, United States Code, makes the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff responsible for "developing doctrine for the joint employment of Armed Forces."

b. DOD Directive 5100.1, "Functions of the Department of Defense and Its Major Components," 25 September 1987, reiterated the responsibility of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for joint doctrine and further charged him with promulgating joint publications to provide military guidance for joint activities of the Armed Forces.

c. Joint Pub 0-2, December 1986, "Unified Action Armed Forces (UNAAF)," tasks the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff with overall responsibility for joint doctrine and JTTP, coordinating joint doctrine with the Services and combatant commands, approving all joint doctrine, and publishing joint doctrine and JTTP as a distinct family of publications separate from administrative publications.

3. Supersession. This publication supersedes Joint Pub 1-01 of 15 April 1988 with changes 1 and 2.

4. Terminology. Terms and definitions used in the development of joint doctrine and JTTP shall be in accordance with Joint Pub 1-02, "Department of Defense Dictionary of Military and Associated Terms." When conditions dictate using terms and definitions that are not included in, or depart from, Joint Pub 1-02, all such terms will be included in the publication's glossary. Copies of all draft pubs, test pubs, and final pubs will be given to the Joint Military Terminology Group (JMTG) for information. Members of the JMTG may submit recommendations for terminology through their respective doctrine sponsors. Upon approval of the publication (or upon approval of a change or revision), these new terms will also be approved and included in the next edition of Joint Pub 1-02. Proposed new or modified definitions for inclusion in Joint Pub 1-02 will be clearly identified as such in the glossary with the appropriate notations from Appendix F, Table F-1 (also see examples starting on page F-24). There are also procedures for proposing new terminology for direct insertion in Joint Pub 1-02. Such new terms may be forwarded through the chain of command to Service or Joint Staff terminology offices for processing in accordance with CJCS MOP 59.

5. Application

a. Joint doctrine and JTTP are authoritative but not directive. Commanders shall exercise their best judgment in applying joint doctrine to accomplish their missions in the most effective manner. Published joint doctrine and JTTP shall be followed, except when, in the judgment of the commander, exceptional circumstances dictate otherwise. If conflicts arise between the procedures found in joint publications and those found in other US publications, joint publications will govern the operations of joint US forces, unless specific and more current CJCS guidance applies. If a commander determines that a joint doctrine and JTTP deficiency or inconsistency exists, the commander shall advise the appropriate authorities of the deficiency or inconsistency.

b. Only publications approved by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be referred to as "joint publications." Publications involving two or more Services that have not been reviewed and approved by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff shall be referred to as "multi-Service" and shall identify the participating Services (e.g., Army and Air Force doctrine or Army, Navy, and Air Force procedures).

6. Scope

a. The purpose of joint doctrine and JTTP is to enhance the combat effectiveness of US forces.

b. Joint doctrine is used to:

(1) Guide the joint employment of forces.

(2) Provide the national position for combined doctrine consistent with existing security procedures.

(3) Provide a basis for joint training.

(4) Provide instructional material for the military education system.

(5) Inform US Government agencies concerning the employment of US joint forces.

c. Joint doctrine is written for those who:

(1) Provide strategic direction to joint forces (Secretary of Defense, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, commanders of combatant commands).

(2) Employ joint forces (combatant commanders, commanders of subunified commands, or commanders of joint task forces (JTF)).

(3) Support or are supported by joint forces (combatant commands, subunified commands JTFs, component commands, Services, and supporting agencies).

d. Joint doctrine can be developed by the:

(1) Chiefs of the Services.

(2) Combatant Commanders.

(3) Directors, Joint Staff directorates.

e. Joint doctrine shall be written to reflect extant capabilities but may influence acquisition and joint force organization.

f. Joint tactics, techniques, and procedures are written for those who implement joint doctrine such as:

(1) Commanders of joint forces.

(2) Commanders of subordinate commands.

(3) Commanders at echelons where joint forces interact.

g. In developing joint doctrine and JTTP, extant Service and combined doctrine and tactics, techniques, and procedures shall be considered. Once approved, joint doctrine provides the national position for combined doctrine development consistent with existing security procedures. Service doctrine must be consistent with approved joint doctrine.

CHAPTER II

RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Other Members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff has overall responsibility for developing joint doctrine and JTTP for the joint employment of the armed forces, and in consultation with the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will approve all joint doctrine and JTTP publications and any modifications to joint doctrine and JTTP development procedures.

2. Services, Combatant Commands, and Joint Staff Directorates. The Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff directorates will develop specific joint doctrine and JTTP projects as assigned by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; assist other organizations in developing joint doctrine and JTTP projects; participate in conferences called to address joint doctrine and JTTP issues; and coordinate with each other on the development and maintenance of all joint doctrine and JTTP. The Services and combatant commands will support the evaluation of joint doctrine and JTTP projects in joint exercises. Additionally, the Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff directorates may propose doctrinal projects to be considered for development in accordance with this publication. Proposals should be submitted to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (Attn: Director, Operational Plans and Interoperability (J-7)). Each Service and combatant command will appoint a single point of contact for all joint doctrine matters.

3. Director for Operational Plans and Interoperability. The Director, J-7, is responsible to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for managing the joint doctrine and JTTP program. The Director, J-7, shall:

a. Establish a system for orderly processing of joint doctrine and JTTP project proposals.

b. Ensure the validation of each project proposal in accordance with the procedures outlined herein.

c. Recommend a primary Joint Staff directorate (based upon subject matter and available expertise) to serve as Joint Staff doctrine sponsor (DS) (see paragraph 8 below).

d. Recommend, in accordance with procedures contained herein, the initiation of projects, including the designation of a lead agent (LA) (see paragraph 4 below).

e. Develop and coordinate approval of program development directives for each new joint doctrine and JTTP project in accordance with the guidance herein to include the designation of lead agents and Joint Staff doctrine sponsors.

f. Monitor the progress of each joint doctrine and JTTP project and provide assistance to the LA and DS as required to ensure complete coordination.

g. Ensure the orderly processing and complete coordination of all joint doctrine and JTTP projects, to include adjustment of project milestones for new projects and establishment and adjustment of milestones for publication revisions.

h. As part of the development and staffing efforts and in accordance with procedures outlined herein, receive the revised final draft from the LA (if other than the J-7) and process for final publication approval or for test publication approval and evaluation (if applicable).

i. Coordinate and approve the evaluation directive for the test publication (if applicable) in accordance with procedures contained herein.

j. If assigned as the Joint Staff DS for a project, process the proposed final publication for final approval, resolving any outstanding issues.

k. Sponsor a Joint Doctrine Working Party to bring together representatives periodically from the Services and combatant commands to address joint doctrine proposals and issues.

l. Manage the Joint Electronic Library (JEL).

m. Periodically review the joint doctrine hierarchy for possible consolidation and deletions.

4. Lead Agents. Individual Services, combatant commands, or Joint Staff directorates may be assigned as LAs for developing and maintaining joint doctrine or JTTP publications. Specific procedures for developing and maintaining publications are contained herein. In general, the LA is responsible for developing, coordinating, reviewing, and maintaining an assigned doctrine or JTTP publication. During pub revision, the LA responsibility may be redesignated in the program directive for the revision.

5. Primary Review Authority. Upon assuming responsibility for developing a doctrine or JTTP, the LA will assign a primary review authority (PRA). The PRA and the LA may, in some cases, be one and the same. The PRA performs the actions and coordination necessary to develop and maintain the assigned publication under cognizance of the LA in accordance with this document.

6. Coordinating Review Authority. For each publication, each Service and combatant command will assign a coordinating review authority (CRA), who will coordinate with and assist the PRA in development, evaluation, and maintenance. To ensure consistency, the CRA should be the Service or combatant command single point of contact for joint doctrine matters. CRA comments provided to designated PRAs shall be coordinated with and represent the position of the appointing Service or combatant command. Service CRAs are also responsible for determining the Service publication distribution requirements. Combatant command CRAs develop distribution requirements for their respective headquarters.

7. Technical Review Authority. A technical review authority (TRA) is an organization tasked to provide specialized technical or administrative expertise to the PRA or CRA. TRA support from outside the LA chain of command will be approved by the Director, J-7. More than one TRA may be assigned as appropriate. TRAs will normally be designated in the program directive but may be assigned based on the request of any CRA by the J-7 at any time during the development process.

8. Joint Staff Doctrine Sponsor. Each joint doctrine or JTTP project shall be assigned a Joint Staff DS. The Director, J-7, will provide guidelines for executing Joint Staff DS responsibilities. The DS will assist the LA or PRA as requested and perform CRA functions for the Joint Staff, coordinate the draft document within the Joint Staff in accordance with current Joint Staff administrative procedures; and provide Joint Staff comments and recommendations to the PRA. The DS coordinates all Joint Staff actions necessary to complete and maintain assigned joint doctrine or JTTP. The DS is responsible for determining Joint Staff distribution requirements for assigned publications. The DS will make all administrative preparations for the publication of final publications (and test publications if applicable) in coordination with the Director, J-7.

(INTENTIONALLY BLANK)

CHAPTER III

PROCEDURES

1. Project Proposal and Validation

a. By Message

(1) Proposal. The Chiefs of the Services, combatant commanders, and Directors, Joint Staff directorates, may propose joint doctrine and JTTP projects to be considered for development. Commands subordinate to the above may submit joint doctrine or JTTP proposals through their chains of command. Recommended projects will be submitted to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff by message using the format and list of addressees for action copies shown in Appendix A. Information addressees may be added at the discretion of the originator.

(2) Validation. The Director, J-7, shall solicit comments on the proposal from the Services and combatant commands; however, all addressees will be invited to comment. Comments will be provided to the Director, J-7, in the format shown in Appendix B. The Director, J-7, is responsible for completing the validation by ensuring that all relevant sources have been explored, including international agreements; lessons learned files; extant and emerging joint, combined, and Service doctrine and procedures; and other sources as appropriate. The Director, J-7, will notify the submitting commander of the disposition of all project proposals.

b. By Joint Doctrine Working Party Proposal and Validation. The Joint Doctrine Working Party (JDWP), which meets semiannually, provides an efficient alternative for introducing proposals. A project proposal submitted to the JDWP follows the format in Appendix A but is submitted only to the Director, J-7, to be included in the JDWP read-ahead package. The read-ahead package is normally issued to all participants 2 months before the working party meets. Validation takes place through the JDWP process eliminating the need to comment by message. All project proposals, whether they are issued by message or through the JDWP read-ahead package, are discussed at the working party meeting. The JDWP makes a final recommendation to the Director, J-7, for project initiations (this recommendation is written up as the minutes of the JDWP and coordinated via CJCS MOP 9 for complete agreement). The Director, J-7, will notify the submitting commander of the disposition of all project proposals.

2. Scope Development. After the proposal is validated, the project scope will be refined, approved, and issued in the program directive (see sample in Appendix C). The program directive is a coordinated effort by the Director, J-7, the proposed LA, and, if required, the Joint Staff DS. Project scope refinement involves extensive informal coordination among the Services, combatant commands, and Director, J-7, on each project's nomination, program directive development, and priority of development. If the need for additions or modifications to the project scope are discovered during development, these changes will first be coordinated with J-7. Significant modifications of the program directive will be coordinated by the J-7 with the appropriate agencies (Services and CINCs), and then issued in correspondence or message traffic modifying the basic program directive prior to the next review of the publication. Minor changes will be stated, with J-7 approval, in the transmittal memorandum of the next draft.

3. Project Development. Project development commences when the program directive is approved and released by the Director, J-7. The program directive may authorize development to begin immediately, or actual project initiation may be delayed to allow for orderly processing of projects. The LA established in the program directive will assign a PRA to actually develop the project and request that each Service and combatant command assign a CRA for the project. Under the cognizance of the LA, the PRA will develop an initial draft based on guidance provided in the program directive.

a. The following responsibilities are assigned in developing the initial and final drafts:

(1) The PRA will consider existing joint, combined, and Service doctrine and ensure that the draft reflects Service and combatant command perspectives. The PRA is encouraged to conduct coordination meetings to establish early dialog with combatant command and Service CRAs. These discussions should highlight perspectives and/or doctrinal differences that should be considered in the development of the initial draft.

(2) The PRA will ensure that sentences, paragraphs, and passages lifted from previously approved publications are quoted verbatim. Necessary changes to previously approved language resulting from the development of new joint doctrine will be highlighted for addressal in the staffing process.

(3) The PRA will employ, to the greatest extent possible, the previously approved terminology contained in Joint Pub 1-02. Terms and definitions that are not included in, or depart from, Joint Pub 1-02 will be included in the initial draft, final draft, and test publication (when applicable) glossaries. New or modified definitions in drafts or test publications will be clearly identified in the glossary (see Appendix F, page F-4).

(4) All draft editions of pubs (including test pubs, if applicable, revisions, and changes) will adhere to format rules in Appendix F. In addition, they will use vertical lines in the outside margins of the pub (including the glossary) to indicate the location of text that has changed since the previous draft edition. These vertical lines will not be retained in final approved versions. Draft pubs (and proposed test pubs if developed) should be double spaced with line-numbered pages. All pubs should contain a brief overview of the joint doctrine process and hierarchy (see sample page F-8) indicating the position of the publication in the hierarchy. This overview should be located inside the front cover.

(5) The PRA will submit the initial draft to the CRAs for comment and to other joint doctrine points of contact (if different from the CRAs) for information. A minimum of five copies will be sent to each Service and combatant command (copies of pubs to OCONUS headquarters such as USEUCOM, USPACOM, and USSOUTHCOM should be sent first-class mail). A copy of each draft should be provided to the Joint Doctrine Center on paper and as computer files. The computer files should be in ASCII or Word Perfect on a 3.5" or 5.25" floppy disk with page numbers, headers, and footers having the correct placement and data location matching the table of contents. Publication figures should also be provided on an MSDOS compatible disk in uncompressed Intel Data TIF format, appropriately annotated to convey figure location in the publication. These formatted data will be used to add the publication to the joint electronic library. The Joint Doctrine Center will provide additional guidance as required.

(6) CRA and Joint Staff DS comments will be provided in these distinct categories:

(a) Critical Comments. Critical comments will cause nonconcurrence in the draft if the concern is not satisfactorily resolved.

(b) Major Comments. Major comments are significant concerns that may result in nonconcurrence in the entire document. This category may be used with a general statement of concern with a subject area, thrust of the document, etc., followed by detailed comments on specific entries in documents that, taken together, constitute the concern.

(c) Substantive Comments. Substantive comments are provided because sections in the document appear to be or are potentially incorrect, incomplete, misleading, or confusing.

(d) Administrative Comments. Administrative comments correct inconsistencies between different sections, typographical errors, or grammatical errors.

(7) The PRA will incorporate changes into the draft and circulate a final draft to the Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff DS for comment. A copy should be provided on disk to the Joint Doctrine Center as described in subparagraph 3a(5).

(8) The PRA will incorporate appropriate comments into the final draft, identify unresolved issues, and submit the final draft to the LA for consideration.

b. The LA will:

(1) Make every attempt to resolve any remaining outstanding issues.

(2) If a test pub and evaluation stage is required, assist the evaluation agent in developing evaluation criteria for the evaluation directive (ED).

(c) The LA will designate a PRA to write the publication revision.

(d) Under the cognizance of the LA, the PRA will develop an initial draft and final draft of the revision in accordance with the guidance for project development in paragraph 3 above. If the scope of the existing publication falls within the scope established by the program directive, the existing publication may suffice as the initial draft.

(e) The LA will make every attempt to resolve any outstanding issues and forward the final draft of the revision to the Joint Staff DS to be processed for final approval.

(f) The Joint Staff DS will process the revision for approval in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

d. Cancellation or Supersession of Publications. Cancellation or supersession of joint publications will be accomplished through formal action in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

7. Configuration-Managed and Technical Publications

a. Within the Joint Publication System, highly technical publications require frequent review and update. These publications are maintained either by using a configuration management system, as in MJCS 99-85, "Interface Standards Configuration Management Guidance," JIEO Circular 9000 (established by MJCS 103-86), or through change procedures outlined within the lead publication of a series, as in Joint Pub 1-03, "Joint Reporting Structure." These maintenance procedures will be used in lieu of procedures outlined in paragraphs 3 and 4 above except as noted below. Configuration-managed (CM) and technical publications will conform to the maximum extent possible to the format standards listed in Appendix F. Configuration management provides technical and administrative support for the maintenance of interoperability standards and procedures in appropriate joint publications. All new projects, changes, and revisions to CM and technical publications will be coordinated with JDD, J-7, before final approval. Any doctrinal issues that arise will receive conscious addressal through full staffing in accordance with subparagraph 6c(2) above.

b. Configuration-managed and technical publications are those joint publications that support doctrine and JTTP. They are included in the numerical index of joint publications for reference purposes and are managed by their Joint Staff DS or LA. Review cycles for technical publications will not exceed 5 years. Technical publications and those publications under configuration management are annotated as such in Appendix H. Specific information on the type of configuration management in use on a publication series may be obtained from the Joint Staff DS.

c. Project nominations and development of the program directive for CM and technical publications will follow the same guidelines as other joint doctrine projects described in this publication.

8. Printing and Distribution of Final and Test Joint Publications

a. Printing. The Director for Information and Resource Management (DIRM), Joint Staff, in coordination with the Director, J-7, has responsibility for printing all joint publications for the Joint Staff, joint agencies, and DOD agencies (with the exception of configuration-managed publications as discussed in subparagraph 7a above.) The Services will fund the printing of all final and test (if applicable) joint pubs they require for internal distribution as well as joint pubs required by combatant command headquarters (see subparagraph 8b(3) below).

b. Distribution. The Director, J-7, has overall responsibility for distributing approved joint publications.

(1) The Joint Staff (DIRM) is responsible for distributing (both initial and subsequent) joint pubs to the Joint Staff, OSD, FEMA, DNA, NSA, JSTPS, CIA, DISA, DIA, NDU, AFSC, US Coast Guard, and any other joint or DOD agencies approved by the Director, J-7. A copy of the approved publication will be provided on disk to the Joint Doctrine Center as described in subparagraph 3a(5).

(2) The Joint Staff distributes 5 copies of each new, revised or test joint pub to the Services and 25 copies to the combatant commands. Distribution of CM publications to combatant commands is based upon a requested number and may be less than 25 copies. (DSs will contact each combatant command before distribution of CM publications.)

c. Following LA review, the final draft will be revised into a proposed final pub and forwarded to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (Attn: Director, J-7). When forwarding the proposed final pub to the Director, J-7, the LA should:

(1) Identify unresolved issues.

(2) Identify and justify the differences between the draft publication and existing joint, Service, and combined doctrine.

(3) Provide an electronic copy of the document in ASCII or "WordPerfect" to the Joint Staff DS.

(4) Make recommendations concerning the consolidation or cancellation of existing joint doctrine. As a result of this consolidation, the LA will also recommend what redundant information in other joint publications should be deleted in their next revision. The J-7 will communicate these recommendations to the concerned LAs and Joint Staff doctrine sponsors for appropriate action.

d. The LA should take appropriate measures for foreign release and sanitization of classified publications. Both the PRA and LA will ensure that any classified paragraphs are properly marked. The LA is responsible for determining if classified information contained in the joint pub has been authorized for disclosure or release to foreign governments. Assistance in this determination can be obtained from the Joint Staff. For intelligence information, contact DIA COS-6B, DSN 225-2455, and for all other classified areas, contact J-5 Security Assistance and Technology Transfer Division, DSN 224-5787. If all the information in a publication is approved for release, those countries should be listed on the lower left-hand corner of the cover. Otherwise those separate paragraphs that have been approved for release should be appropriately marked.

5. Optional Test Pub and Evaluation Stage. During development, any member of the joint doctrine community (e.g., the Joint Staff, Services, and combatant commands) may submit a request and justification for having a publication undergo formal evaluation. The decision to include a test pub and evaluation stage would be coordinated as part of the CJCS MOP 9 staffing process for the proposed final pub.

a. Test Publications. The decision to proceed with a test pub will normally take place after preliminary CJCS MOP 9 staffing and will result in a proposed test pub for final staffing. Upon completion of CJCS MOP 9 coordination with the Services and Joint Staff by the Joint Staff DS and after approval by the Director, J-7, draft joint doctrine or JTTP will be published as test publications for evaluation. Differences of opinion will be included as an appendix to the test publication. Test publication distribution will be the same as the distribution of final pubs (see paragraph 8, page III-14). The Joint Doctrine Division, J-7 will provide a copy of the approved test pub to the Joint Doctrine Center, J-7 as described in subparagraph 3a(5). Test publications will be distinctly marked (e.g., "Joint Test Pub X-XX" on the cover and page headers) to ensure that users are aware of the provisional nature of the publication. The steps involved in staffing a joint publication with the optional test and evaluation stage are illustrated in Figure III-2.

b. Evaluation

(1) An evaluation agent will be identified during the test pub decision process using the following criteria:

(a) The evaluation agent will normally be the Joint Doctrine Center.

(b) A publication should not normally be evaluated by the LA.

(c) An evaluation agent should be sufficiently staffed and funded to conduct liaison visits and field evaluation.

(d) An evaluation agent should be committed to conducting the evaluation from start to finish.

(2) Following appropriate staffing, the Director, J-7, will issue an evaluation directive for the

Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (see Appendix D) tasking the test publication evaluation. Evaluation directives will be developed and staffed with the Services, combatant commands, and the Joint Staff. The staffing process is as follows:

(a) The evaluation agent develops the evaluation directive and conducts coordination in accordance with CJCS MOP 9. The evaluation agent will conduct preliminary CJCS MOP 9 coordination by staffing the initial draft of the evaluation directive with the Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff assisted by JDD, J-7. The Joint Electronic Library (JEL) will be used to the maximum extent possible for all staffing.

(b) After all comments are received from the preliminary coordination, the evaluation agent will make the necessary changes and staff a final draft of the evaluation directive for final, planner level CJCS MOP 9 coordination to the Services, any combatant commands with a vested interest (such as those sponsoring exercises for evaluation), and the Joint Staff, again assisted by JDD, J-7.

(c) Comment categories (critical, major, substantive, and administrative) used for comments on draft publications should also be used in addressing initial and final draft evaluation directive concerns. A "critical category" comment will require resolution by the evaluation agent. If the concern cannot be resolved by the evaluation agent, the action will be passed to the Director, J-7, for completion of the CJCS MOP 9 process.

(d) Upon receiving comments on the final draft, the evaluation agent will complete the CJCS MOP 9 process by preparing a proposed evaluation directive and forwarding it to the Director, J-7, for release. This evaluation directive will formally notify appropriate combatant commands of the evaluation agent's intent to use exercises, structured interviews, or surveys in their theater to evaluate the specified joint test publication. All Services and combatant commands will be addressees and will be notified of all further updates concerning the evaluation plan.

(3) The evaluation agent will select the optimum means available for evaluation. Evaluation options include use of full 18-month multiple CPX/FTX evaluations, surveys, structured interviews, a combination of the above, or CJCS MOP 9 action only. Recommendations as to the most appropriate means to be used for evaluating test publications will be based on issues remaining after final draft publication staffing. The draft evaluation directive forwarded for staffing will include a recommended evaluation method.

(4) Differences of opinion included in the test publication must be made part of the evaluation criteria. Resolution of these critical differences is essential during the test period. However, differences of opinion should be restated in terms conducive to the evaluation process and not simply quoted verbatim from the test pub.

(5) Interim evaluation reports (e.g., results of evaluations conducted during specific exercises and structured interviews) will be released by the evaluation agent to the joint doctrine points of contact for information.

(6) The evaluation agent will develop a final evaluation report using observations from interim evaluation reports. The final evaluation report will include recommended refinements to the publication. After review, the Director, J-7, will sign the report and send it to the LA with information copies to the Services and combatant commands.

(7) If evaluation results indicate a requirement for changes to the publication, the LA will rewrite the publication as required and return the modified publication to J-7. J-7 will send copies to the Services and combatant commands for comment.

(8) The Director, J-7, will oversee joint doctrine and JTTP evaluations to ensure the adequacy, completeness, and consistency of evaluations.

6. Publication Maintenance System

a. Continuous Assessment of Final Pubs. In order to provide a basis for subsequent periodic revision, the utility and quality of all final pubs will be actively and continuously assessed.

(1) Final publications will contain a user recommendation and comment report form (See sample at F-21) located as the last appendix in each joint publication. This report will allow the field to submit comments directly to the J-7, Joint Staff, and may be submitted at any time by message or by use of the form attached to the publication.

(2) In addition, during the 18 to 24 month period after publication of a final publication, the Director, J-7, will solicit a written report from the combatant commands and Services using the format in Appendix E. This assessment will specifically address any urgent change requirements and need for earlier-than-scheduled revisions.

b. Changes

(1) Administrative Changes. Administrative changes to joint publications will be processed with the Services and Joint Staff in accordance with CJCS MOP 9 and with the combatant commands by means of a memorandum. Approval will be at the lowest appropriate level. If, during processing, the change is deemed to be substantive rather than administrative, the change will either be held for inclusion in the next revision of the publication or be processed for formal approval.

(2) Substantive Changes. Substantive changes to joint publications that are not so extensive as to require a complete revision will be circulated to the combatant commands for comment and processed for approval in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

(3) Submission of Changes. Recommended changes to either test publications or final publications may be submitted to the LA by the Services, combatant commands, or the Joint Staff. Information copies of recommended changes will be provided to the Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff. Changes are submitted as:

(a) Urgent Changes. Urgent change recommendations will be forwarded by priority message to the Joint Staff (Attn: Director, J-7) and the appropriate LA (see Appendix G). Urgent changes are those that require immediate promulgation to prevent personnel hazard or damage to equipment, correct an operating technique, or emphasize a limitation that adversely affects combat effectiveness. The LA will advise the Director, J-7, if the recommended change needs to be issued as an urgent change. The Director, J-7, will, if in agreement, approve the urgent change for the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

(b) Routine Changes. Routine change recommendations will be forwarded to the LA with information copies to all CRAs for consideration during normal review cycles.

c. Review

(1) Interval. Reviews will be completed on a 5-year cycle beginning with the effective date of publication and recurring every 5 years upon completion of the most recent review. As an exception, capstone and keystone joint doctrinal publications, (Joint Pubs 1, 0-1, 2-0, 3-0, 4-0, 5-0, and 6-0) will be initially reviewed 3 years after the effective date of publication; thereafter, these publications will be reviewed on the same 5-year recurring cycle as all other joint publications. Milestones for revision will be coordinated by the Director, J-7. If more frequent reviews are deemed necessary by the LA, LAs and/or PRAs will ensure that the review cycle is set forth in the affected publication and coordinated with the Director, J-7. If sufficient justification for a full review does not exist, the review or update requirement will be coordinated by the LA through the DS and Director, J-7. The steps for revision of a joint publication are illustrated in Figure III-1.

(2) Staffing Requirements. Revisions of joint publications will be staffed with the Services, combatant commands, and Joint Staff. The staffing process is as follows:

(a) Ninety days before initiation of the publication program directive, the LA, in coordination with the Director, J-7, and the DS, will request Services and combatant commands to identify CRAs and comment on the existing publication.

(b) If comments on the existing publication indicate extensive revision is necessary, a program directive governing the revision effort will be created by JDD, J-7, and staffed in accordance with CJCS MOP 9.

(3) The combatant commands may obtain additional copies from the Military Service assigned administrative support responsibility by the current version of DOD Directive 5100.3, "Support of Headquarters of Unified, Specified, and Subordinate Joint Commands."

(4) The Military Service publication centers responsible for distributing joint pubs to Service elements and combatant commands are listed in Appendix F.

(5) During joint pub development or revision, the Service CRAs for each joint pub are responsible for determining basic Service distribution requirements. Combatant command CRAs develop distribution requirements for their respective headquarters (to stipulate quantities above or below the standard 25 copies provided by the Joint Staff). This data should be developed during the staffing of the final draft. The combatant command distribution requirements that exceed the initial 25 copies will be provided to the supporting Service by the joint doctrine single point of contact within each command. The Joint Staff DS will ensure that Service CRAs provide Service distribution for the publication under development.

PUBLICATION ORGANIZATIONAL FRAMEWORK

1. Joint Publication Hierarchy. The joint publication hierarchy provides a framework for the serial structure for joint doctrine, JTTP, and joint technical publications. The organizational structure follows traditional joint staff lines of responsibility to the maximum degree possible. Each series, except the 0 and 1 series, provides for a keystone manual as the first publication in the series. The keystone manuals constitute the doctrinal foundation of the series.

2. Joint Publication Identification

a. The first numerical group identifies the functional field as follows:

(1) 0 Series: Capstone Joint Warfare Doctrine (Joint Pub 1, "Joint Warfare of The US Armed Forces," is also a capstone pub in this series).

(2) 1 Series: Joint Reference Publications.

(3) 2 Series: Intelligence Support of Joint Operations.

(4) 3 Series: Joint Operations.

(5) 4 Series: Logistics Support of Joint Operations.

(6) 5 Series: Planning of Joint Operations.

(7) 6 Series: Command, Control, Communications, and Computers (C4) Systems Support of Joint Operations.

b. The second numerical group, preceded by a hyphen, places the publication within a functional field. A zero-digit designator is used to indicate the keystone manual for the series of a functional field. (For example, Joint Pub 6-0 would be the number for the keystone manual in the C4 Systems series.)

c. The third numerical group, preceded by a period, designates those publications that provide supporting or expanded doctrine or JTTP for sequenced manuals within a functional field. (For example, Joint Pub 3-09.1 would be the number of the publication on "Joint Tactics, Techniques and Procedures for Lasers," which supports Joint Pub 3-09, "Doctrine for Joint Fire Support," which falls under the Joint Pub 3-0 Series (Joint Operations) of publications.)

3. Publication Number Assignment. The Director, J-7, assigns the publication number to ensure subject matter continuity. This includes publication numbers for configuration-managed and technical publications.

CHAPTER V

PUBLICATION SERIES DESCRIPTION

1. Joint Pub 0 Series, Capstone Joint Warfare Doctrine. Publications in the Joint Pub 0 Series link joint doctrine to national strategy and the contributions of other government agencies and alliances. The UNAAF, Joint Pub 0-2, continues to provide the basic organization and command and control relationships required for effective joint operations of the forces of two or more Services. This series also includes Joint Pub 1, "Joint Warfare for The US Armed Forces."

2. Joint Pub 1 Series, Joint Reference Publications. The Joint Pub 1 Series includes a joint publication guide and index and general reference publications (e.g., DOD Dictionary of Military and Associated Terms).

3. Joint Pub 2 Series, Doctrine for Intelligence Support of Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 2 Series establish joint doctrine, tactics, techniques, and procedures for intelligence support of joint operations including direction, planning, collection, processing, production, and dissemination.

4. Joint Pub 3 Series, Doctrine for Unified and Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 3 Series establish joint doctrine, tactics, techniques, and procedures for directing, planning, and executing joint military operations.

5. Joint Pub 4 Series, Doctrine for Logistics Support of Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 4 Series establish joint doctrine, techniques, and procedures for directing, planning, and carrying out logistic support of joint operations.

6. Joint Pub 5 Series, Doctrine for Planning Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 5 Series establish the joint planning processes relating to the conduct of joint military operations (e.g., deliberate and crisis planning).

7. Joint Pub 6 Series, Doctrine for C4 Systems Support of Joint Operations. Publications in the Joint Pub 6 Series establish joint doctrine, tactics, techniques, and procedures for C4 systems support to joint operations.

8. New Joint Publication System. Figure V-1 illustrates the relationship within each publication series among existing joint publications, multi-Service publications, ongoing projects, and new projects approved for development under the Joint Doctrine Master Plan. A legend is provided to help differentiate between the various categories.

JOINT PUBLICATION ORGANIZATION AND FORMAT

1. Organization. The final joint publication will have several main parts and should be organized as follows:

a. Front and back covers. Figure showing the joint doctrine process and hierarchy describing the relative position of the publication being presented will be printed inside the front cover. (See example on page F-8.)

b. Transmittal memorandum with distribution list.

c. Security instructions to include instructions for foreign release and sanitization (if joint pub is classified).

d. Record of changes.

e. List of Effective Pages.

f. Preface (if needed).

g. Table of contents.

h. Body of publication.

i. Appendixes and annexes (if needed).

j. Glossary (if needed, the glossary is normally placed in the back of the publication).

k. Index (if needed).

2. Format. The format for a joint pub can be modified with the authorization of the Director, J-7 (JDD). Standard format is specified below:

a. Cover. The joint pub title, number, date, and JCS and Service logos will be printed on the front cover (model, page F-7). The overall classification of the publication will be printed at the top and bottom centers of the front and back covers. In classified publications, the figure inside the front cover (model, page F-8) will be marked UNCLASSIFIED. The publication covers will be color-coded as follows:

(1) UNCLASSIFIED and FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY--white.

(2) CONFIDENTIAL--blue.

(3) SECRET--red.

(4) TOP SECRET--orange.

No marking is required on the inside of the back cover.

b. Transmittal Memorandum. See model, page F-9.

c. Security Instructions. Security instructions are required for all classified joint pubs (model, page F-12) and will include:

(1) The long and short titles of the joint pub. The short title will be UNCLASSIFIED and should be used when referring to the joint pub in all forms of communications.

(2) The reason for the classification and any reproduction or distribution restrictions or instructions.

(3) Instructions for foreign release and sanitization.

d. Record of Changes. A record of changes page is required for all joint pubs (model, page F-13).

e. List of Effective Pages. Required for all joint pubs (including new and revised) with changes to show which pages are affected. (Model, page F-14)

f. Preface. A preface (model, page F-15) may be included to describe the purpose, scope, and other appropriate information. If a preface is not included, the purpose and scope will be stated in the text.

g. Table of Contents. A table of contents (model, page F-17) will be included.

h. Body of Publication. The body of the publication (model, page F-18) will be divided into chapters. The chapters may be divided into sections and subsections.

i. Appendixes and Annexes. Appendixes are placed at the end of the joint pub. Annexes to appendixes, if required, follow the appendix to which they apply.

j. Users Evaluation Report. This report form will normally be the last appendix in final approved pubs to allow the target audiences to comment on pubs directly. See sample, page F-21.

k. Glossary. The glossary usually consists of two sections: Part I, Abbreviations and Acronyms, and Part II, Terms and Definitions. It is normally placed in the back of the publication. Abbreviations and acronyms need not be established in the text if the publication has a glossary, nor should they be used in the text of definitions. Normally, the glossary should include only those terms and definitions that are proposed as new or modified for Joint Pub 1-02, "Department of Defense Dictionary of Military and Associated Terms." However, if definitions from Joint Pub 1-02 are included to assist the reader, they must be listed in the glossary exactly as written in Joint Pub 1-02 followed by the notation: "(Joint Pub 1-02)." (Exclusive NATO and Alliance terms and definitions will not be used in joint doctrine.) If additional text is desired to elaborate upon a Joint Pub 1-02 definition in order to provide more information within the context of a particular joint pub without attempting to modify Joint Pub 1-02, then that information should be provided in the text of the publication. However, publication writers are encouraged not to repeat glossary definitions verbatim in the text of a joint pub (this increases the chances for multiple definitions) but may use text to discuss or expand them. Glossary terms should be written in lower case unless otherwise designated. In summary, terms and definitions will consist of those proposed as new or modified for Joint Pub 1-02, those quoted directly from Joint Pub 1-02, and those proposed terms quoted directly from another draft pub (or test pub if developed). Glossary notations of terms and definitions are summarized in Table F-1 on page F-4. Examples start on page F-24.

l. Index. An alphabetical index (model, page F-26) should be included unless the author believes it would not be helpful to the reader.

Table F-1. Glossary Notations for Terms and Definitions

Notation	Placement	Use
Joint Pub 1-02	In parenthesis at end of applicable definition.	Indicates definition is taken verbatim from Joint Pub 1-02.
Identified in Joint Pub X-XX (Initial or Final Draft or test pub, if applicable) as a proposed term and definition for Joint Pub 1-02.	In parenthesis at end of applicable definition.	Indicates term and definition are taken verbatim from another draft or test pub, if applicable.
* This term and definition are applicable only in the context of this pub and cannot be referenced outside of this publication.	Footnote. 1/	Indicates stand-alone term and definition that applies only to a particular joint pub and cannot be used outside of that publication. Single asterisk terms should only be used as a last resort.
 Upon approval of this publication (or upon approval of a change or revision of an existing pub), this term and definition will be included in Joint Pub 1-02.	Footnote.	Adds a new term to Joint Pub 1-02.
 Upon approval of this publication (or upon approval of a change or revision of an existing publication), this term and definition will replace the term and definition for " " in Joint Pub 1-02.	In parenthesis at end of applicable definition.	Replaces an existing term and definition in Joint Pub 1-02.
 Upon approval of this publication (or upon approval of a change or revision of an existing pub), this definition will modify the existing definition in Joint Pub 1-02.	Footnote.	Modifies an existing definition in Joint Pub 1-02.
* This definition differs from the candidate definition in Joint Pub(s) , (Initial or Final Draft or test pub, if applicable).	In parenthesis at end of applicable definition along with footnote which reads: "This definition differs from a candidate definition in another draft or test pub."	Indicates definition differs from candidate definition(s) in another draft joint pub.
Approved as a new (or modified) term and definition for Joint Pub 1-02.	In parenthesis at end of applicable definition.	Indicates former multiple asterisk terms in final approved applications that have not yet been entered in Joint Pub 1-02.

1/ Place asterisk(s) symbols after term to be defined.
Place all footnotes at the end of the Terms and Definitions portion of the Glossary.

3. General Guidance

a. Printed Pages. The abbreviated designation of the joint publication (Joint Pub X-X) is shown in the upper right corner of only odd-numbered pages and the classification at the top and bottom centers of each page. Paragraph classification markings will be in accordance with DOD 5200.1.R, "Information Security Programs." When a change is issued, "CH" followed by the appropriate number (e.g., CH 1) will be indicated directly below the publication number. Page headers will not contain dates.

b. Blank pages. Blank pages are numbered in sequence and annotated in the center with the phrase "(INTENTIONALLY BLANK)."

c. Figures or Tables. Figures or tables should be placed as close as possible to the text they support. If required, they may be incorporated in a chapter or grouped after chapters and appendixes.

d. Reference to Joint Publications. Other joint pubs and joint pub chapters and paragraphs will be referred to by using:

(1) Abbreviated designations for joint pubs (e.g., Joint Pub 2-01).

(2) Chapter numbers for chapters within the joint pub.

(3) Paragraph numbers.

e. Classification. It is desirable that joint publications be unclassified for ease of dissemination. However, information must always be given the appropriate level of protection. One technique for segregating classified information is to use classified appendixes. A classified appendix is listed in the table of contents with the term "published separately" instead of a page number. In addition, a reference to a classified appendix will be made in the text of the publication.

4. Distribution. Chapter III includes detailed guidance on joint pub distribution. The following Military Service publication centers are responsible for distributing joint pubs to Service elements and combatant command headquarters:

a. US Army AG Publication Center, 2800 Eastern Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21220.

b. CO, Naval Aviation Supply Office, Distribution Division (Code 03443), 5801 Tabor Ave, Philadelphia, PA 19120-5000.

c. Air Force Publications Distribution Center, 2800 Eastern Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21220.

d. Marine Corps Logistics Base, Albany, GA 31704.

Service distribution centers are responsible for identifying and informing Coordinating Review Authorities of changes to distribution requirements and obtaining additional stockage.

PREFACE FOR A JOINT PUBLICATION

Joint Pub X-X

(JOINT PUBLICATION TITLE)
PREFACE

1. Purpose. This publication sets forth principles and doctrine (or doctrine and selected tactics, techniques, and procedures) to govern the joint activities and performance of the Armed Forces of the United States. It provides military guidance for the exercise of authority by combatant commanders and other joint force commanders and prescribes doctrine (or doctrine and selected tactics, techniques, and procedures) for joint operations and training. It provides military guidance for use by armed forces in preparing their appropriate plans.

2. Application

a. Doctrine, principles, and guidance established in this publication apply to the commanders of combatant commands, joint task forces, and subordinate components of these commands. These doctrine, principles, and guidance also may apply when significant forces of one Service are attached to forces of another Service or when significant forces of one Service support forces of another Service.

b. In applying the principles and doctrine set forth in this publication, care must be taken to distinguish between distinct but related responsibilities in the two channels of authority to forces assigned to combatant commands. The Military Departments and Services recruit, organize, train, equip, and provide forces for assignment to combatant commands and administer and support these forces. Commanders of the unified and specified commands exercise combatant command (command authority) over these assigned forces. Service component commanders are responsible both to joint force commanders in the operational chain of command and to the Military Departments and Services in the chain of command for matters that the joint force commander has not been assigned authority.

c. This publication is authoritative but not directive. Commanders will exercise judgment in applying the procedures herein to accomplish their missions. This doctrine should be followed, except when, in the judgment of the commander, exceptional circumstances dictate otherwise. If conflicts arise between the contents of this publication and the contents of Service publications, this publication will take precedence for the activities of joint forces unless the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, normally in consultation with the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has provided more current and specific guidance.

3. Scope. Describe limitations of the joint publication; e.g., "This publication describes targeting processes and coordination requirements for fire support in joint operations."

4. Basis. List the laws, directives, policies, and procedures that provide the basis for developing this publication.
